INFINITY REHAB WELCOMES NEW DIRECTOR OF CLINICAL SERVICES

Portland, OR — Max Perkins joins Infinity Rehab as its first director of clinical services. Max will develop consistent policy in the clinical delivery of Infinity's therapy programs across seven states – bringing Infinity closer to providing standardized rehabilitation services in the new reimbursement and post-acute environment.

As director of clinical services and with his experience in clinical operations related to therapy services in skilled nursing facilities, Max will standardize training of therapists, implement unique and robust therapy programs for Infinity's patients and facilitate the growth of client facilities. This new position was created to strengthen Infinity's services through an established clinical approach and management structure. Replicating outcome-based therapy programs will give Infinity Rehab a competitive advantage by attracting additional quality-minded providers as clients. By bringing Max on board, Infinity is prepared to begin supporting today's healthcare as it moves toward an outcome-based reimbursement model.

Max Perkins, OTR/L, has a Masters in Healthcare Policy and Administration. According to Infinity Rehab president, Bob Thomas, MSPT, "Max is the right person for this position because of his more than 24 years of clinical and administrative experience in a variety of healthcare settings." He adds, "We are excited to add Max Perkins in this new role to our capable team of professionals and will help prepare Infinity Rehab for the future of a quality-focused healthcare delivery system."

Based in Wilsonville, OR, Infinity Rehab provides clinically intensive, comprehensive physical, occupational and speech therapy in the sub-acute and long-term care environment. Infinity Rehab employs more than 900 therapists and serving approximately 120 facilities and senior campuses in seven states.
